ZOO'S GUIDE TO ALL YOU NEED TO KNOW, WATCH, BUY & LAUGH AT THIS WEEK!

HANNAH ELIZABETH SAYS

"I love sex on the beach!"

Love Island is back from the dead and bustier than ever thanks to the inclusion of one of ZOO's sexiest-ever covergirls!

SHE'S A ZOO LEGEND!

Long-time readers will, of course, be familiar with curvy blonde bombshell Hannah Elizabeth. But if you've only recently joined the ZOO fraternity, then let us introduce you to one of our sexiest stunners.

However, these perky pictures of ZOO's four-time covergirl aren't even the best bit of your erotic education. Oh no, because you'll also find this lively Liverpudlian on ITV2 every Sunday night. ➔

ONLY IN ZOO

Doing what, we hear you ask. Only basking in the sun while wearing practically nothing for the new, revamped series of Love Island! And we can't think of a better show for Hannah to join. After all, the last time we spoke to the fair-haired fox, she couldn't stop telling us how much naughty action she gets up to on her hols.

"I love having sex in the water and on the beach!" Hannah previously told ZOO. "I've done it in the sea, and there was one time on the beach in front of passers-by!"

Crikey! Let's hope ITV's planning an X-rated catch-up show. God knows it'll be necessary with horny Hannah on the beach!

METAL GEAR
SOLID V
FIRST LOOK!

ESPIONAGE, GUNS AND... HORSES?

ZOO pulled on the camo and snuck into a behind-closed-doors event to get the full lowdown on what to expect from Metal Gear Solid V: The Phantom Pain...

Metal Gear Solid is one of gaming's greatest franchises, but the series' latest release is set to ditch tradition in favour of an action-packed open-world, set in the heart of Afghanistan. Here's what we discovered on the field of battle...

GTA: AFGHANISTAN

Like MG's last entry Ground Zeroes, the core gameplay comes from partaking in episodic missions and occasional side-ops, like having to kidnap a Russian soldier with good language skills simply to enhance any future interrogations with troops. Beyond these missions though, there is a huge open-world to explore, (similar to GTA) where you're free to roam about and do as you please.

YOUR VERY OWN HQ

Despite being set in a massive dusty expanse, you still have a place to call home in the form of your mother base – on a giant oil rig in the middle of the sea. From here, you'll coordinate your every move, improve your skills and train fellow soldiers to fight alongside you. But that's not all, because while you're out in the field, you'll be able to collect raw materials and more to help upgrade your HQ whichever way you see fit.

FUN WITH FULTON BALLOONS

The Fulton-surface-to-air recovery system is making a glorious return to the game, allowing you to capture/collect/kidnap everything and everyone you encounter. Soldiers, tanks, shipping containers: you can even airlift stray horses and goats (should you please) with everything – weather permitting – ending up back at HQ to strengthen your position.

Huge action set-pieces!

INNOVATIVE NEW MULTIPLAYER

Rather than a straightforward map-based multiplayer like Call of Duty or Battlefield, MGS V has opted for something altogether more intriguing. Details are still sketchy, but from what we gather you'll be raiding fellow players' mother bases, stealing resources and claiming bits for your own HQ.

BIG BALLSY ACTION!

The game may focus on espionage, but there's still a tremendous array of huge set pieces to keep you interested from time to time. Like riding a horse out of an exploding building, AK47 in hand, gunning down bad guys as your gallop to safety. What's more Hollywood than that?

➔ Metal Gear Solid V: The Phantom Pain is out on PS3, PS4, Xbox 360 & Xbox One on 1 September

Get FACT!

The iconic “Hello, boys” Wonderbra billboard has been attributed to dozens of road accidents

W.T.F!

The maddest thing we’ve seen this week!

Billboard boner!

It’s stiff competition in the advertising world, but this Costa Rican beer, er, erected the perfect eye-catching billboard...

This ad for Republica Parrillera Pilsen beer might look innocent from the front, but take a look from behind and there’s no disguising the fact it looks like a giant schlong.

We can’t work out if it’s a massive cock-up by the design team or whether someone actually had the balls to suggest it. But whichever way you look at it, it’s impossible for Costa Rican motorists to ignore this huge roadside erection.

The Interview's

funniest gags!

It's already caused a lot of controversy, but The Interview's DVD & Blu-ray don't hold back. Here are ZOO's favourite gags...

[CIA Agent Lacey is trying to make David Skylark and Aaron Rapoport appreciate the magnitude of their mission at hand]

Agent Lacey You are entering into the most dangerous country on Earth. His people believe anything he tells them, including that he can speak to dolphins, or he doesn't urinate and defecate.

David Skylark Whoa, whoa, whoa, whoa. You're telling me my man doesn't pee or poop?

Aaron Rapoport Everybody pees and poops. Where would it go otherwise? He'd explode.

DS But he does talk to dolphins?

[Eminem is opening up to Dave in an interview on Skylark Tonight]

Eminem When I say things about gay people, if people think that my lyrics are homophobic. You know... it's because I'm gay. When I rap about violence...

David Skylark What? What? What?

E It's kind of me confronting it.

DS Let's just back it up a moment. You just said that you were gay. And I'm just curious what you meant by that exactly.

E I mean, I'm gay.

DS Uh... I'm a little confused here. Gay can mean a lot of things.

E I am a homosexual.

DS Meaning...

E I like men.

Malcolm What the fk just happened?

Aaron Rapoport Eminem just said he was gay, four times. That's what the fk just happened.

[Agent Lacey tries to explain what the CIA wants with Aaron and Dave]

Agent Lacey The CIA would love it if you two could... take him out.

Dave Skylark Take him out?

Aaron Rapoport For drinks?

AL No, no, no. Take him out.

DS Take out... like to dinner?

AR Take him out to a meal?

AL Take him out.

AR On the town? To party?

AL No. Take him out.

AR You want us to assassinate the leader of North Korea?

AL Yes.

DS Whaaaaaaat?

[Dave and Aaron try to decide if they should take the mission]

DS As soon as I finished masturbating, I just didn't want to kill him any more. I thought, "Davey, why do you care about this? Let it be Aaron's decision." I'll do whatever you want.

Aaron Rapoport I think we should do it.

DS WHAT!

AR This is the biggest thing ever.

DS If I kill the most dangerous man in the world? The level of fame!

AR You'll be like, really famous. The whole world would be different.

DS This is like if Mylie Cyrus butt-fked herself with Justin Bieber's head at the superbowl.

[Dave and Aaron are arguing over the direction of their chat show]

Aaron Rapoport We have millions of viewers watching our show, and what do we do? We shovel sh*t in their faces. We could be doing something positive. Have authors, activists, politicians.

Dave Skylark That's what people want. "Give us some sh*t."

AR Dude, I want to cover actual news, not Nicki Minaj's vagina flopping out at The Grammys!

HAYEMAKER

David Haye is pulling no punches – only in ZOO

EXCLUSIVE TO ZOO!

Haye vs Joshua: a natural fight!

Anthony Joshua's destruction of Kevin Johnson reminded me of a young Mike Tyson. You can always tell whether someone is the real deal or not by how they deal with guys who give world-class opponents problems. Vitali Klitschko, Tyson Fury and Dereck Chisora have all tried, but not one of them could drop Johnson. AJ dispatched him in two rounds. The numbers don't lie.

Now everyone is trying to do a bit of matchmaking and put us together in the ring. When people used to talk about AJ fighting me, I would say they need to get serious: he's only a pup and has a lot to learn. After that performance, it's a natural fight to make.

It's nice to see someone out there representing Britain and if he continues on the same path, he'll be fighting for titles before me. I'm still working on getting back into the ring and will hopefully have an announcement on that soon.

If we ever did get it on, it would be a football stadium affair – and the highest-grossing fight in the country.

EMAIL YOUR QUESTIONS FOR DAVID TO HAYEMAKER@ZOOTODAY.COM

IN NEED OF A HAYEMAKER THIS WEEK... BRAZILIAN BINMAN

I was horrified when I saw the footage of a Brazilian binman dragging and throwing an injured dog into the back of a rubbish truck. I've got three dogs myself, which I love to bits, and couldn't imagine anyone inflicting any harm on them.

A dozen Hayemakers wouldn't do this horrible b*stard justice. I hope he gets what's coming to him.

Britain rules

Anthony Joshua was not the only man who impressed on Eddie Hearn's Rule Britannia bill. It was a fantastic card from top to bottom and really showed Britain as a hotbed of boxing right now.

Kell Brook got the job done against Frankie Gavin and increased the clamour for a fight with Amir Khan – who was not as convincing in his points win over Chris Algieri – and Lee Selby was brilliant in joining the ever-growing list of British world champions. Well done, chaps.

Fir Park fisticuffs

Rangers defender Bilel Moshni must fancy himself as an amateur Hayemaker after landing one on Motherwell man Lee Erwin in the Scottish Premiership Play-Off Final. A punch square in the chops between two footballers getting paid a lot of money for the privilege isn't so bad: I have to pay my sparring partners to punch me in the face!

A lot of footballers make out like they want to fight all the time anyway, so let them have a good tear-up like in ice hockey – then shake hands afterwards.

◀ Enrique can be your hero, baby

Enrique Iglesias is the hardest man in pop. He nearly sliced his fingers off on a drone during a concert in Mexico, yet still carried on performing for 30 minutes with a bloodied hand. That's professionalism in its rawest form!

I love the toughness and dedication to his fans to really go out there and give them their money's worth – even if it meant bleeding to death!

Forget your 50 Cents and DMXs: Enrique is the real tough man of music.

ASK DAVID!

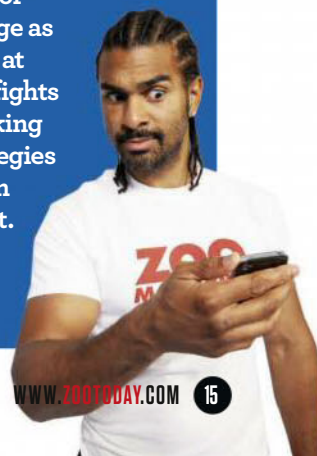

Would you like to become a trainer one day?

DWAYNE COKER, via Twitter

Definitely. I'd love to train young talent to fulfil their potential.

I believe I could pass on a wealth of knowledge as I'm good at reading fights and working out strategies to beat an opponent. I'd make a good coach.

Harley Davidson's Project LiveWire

How European riders are shaping the future of Harley's first electric motorcycle

ZOO & the LiveWire!

All-electric Harley!

It's in our nature to put on a crash helmet and rev our engine whenever the words "electric" and "motorcycle" are mentioned together. It's even more tempting to do that when these words are attached to a Harley Davidson.

However, sceptics will be looking a little red in the face after having a go on HD's Project LiveWire, its first fully-electric motorcycle. On the outside, the LiveWire has all the markings of a street bike: a big front end with a chopped fender (or "mudguard" to us Brits), while the motor is encased in aluminium armour.

There's a solid metal frame and an exposed mono shock rear end, sprayed in signature Harley colours, and the single seat and straight handlebars provide an unexpectedly comfortable ride. Typically though, its heart is designed to produce a resonating whirling noise, not dissimilar to that of a fighter jet's engine.

Thirty of these Harley prototypes arrived in the UK and ZOO got to take one for a spin on a damp track in Bedfordshire. With a subtle twist of the throttle, LiveWire does 0-60 in four seconds. The sleek touchscreen display is easy to read and offers the rider two options: Range and Power.

FUTURISTIC MOTORS

Vital statistics

ENGINE 300V oil-cooled electric motor with a water-cooled motor controller and recuperation technology; two power modes
POWER 73.7 bhp
TORQUE 51.6lb-ft
TOP SPEED Restricted to 91mph
WEIGHT 210kg
RANGE 53 miles

Tron Legacy's replica motorcycle

Remember the Daft Punk-soundtracked Tron Legacy? Well, this fully-functioning replica has a computer-controlled throttle and is powered by a direct drive electric motor and lithium batteries. And it just fetched a hefty $75,000 at auction...

Toyota i-Road Concept

This three-wheeler would be a perfect runaround for city driving. At just 85cm wide, it can manoeuvre through traffic just like a scooter or motorcycle, but it's an electric car, with zero emissions and a range of 30 miles. It also uses Toyota's "Active Lean" technology to balance the vehicle when cornering.

Unfortunately, it only has a life of 53 miles in Range mode, and takes three-and-a-half hours to charge.

It's currently touring the world for a global test ride. Last year, more than 7,000 riders experienced the thrill, so we can only hope it's enough to put LiveWire into production.

FILM
of the week!

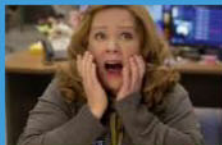

Gascoigne

Gazza: the nickname conjures up countless glorious memories for football fanatics across the globe – and just as many sad stories. Paul Gascoigne was undoubtedly one of the greatest English players produced through the modern grassroots game, and this gripping documentary intimately reveals the life and career of one of the Three Lions' most talented flawed geniuses.

The midfield maestro personally revisits his career-defining highlights and low points in typically honest fashion, supplemented by adoring testimonials from Jose Mourinho, Gary Lineker and Wayne Rooney, who can't heap enough praise on this sensational footballing phenomenon.

Truly compelling, with insight into training ground banter, tragic deaths, tainted reputations and alcoholism, this riveting whistle-stop tour of Gazzamania comes highly recommended. But with less plastic boobs. ★★★★★

DVD!

Project Almanac

This film asks what would you do if you invented time travel? Apart from winning the lottery, amending school grades and visiting past festivals as VIPs, it demonstrates how changing the course of love ultimately has dangerous consequences.

David Raskin (Jonny Weston) uncovers hidden plans for a time machine and builds it – but it's not long before the novelty takes a scary turn.

Far-fetched, but a fun and inventive spin on the found-footage genre. ★★★★★

DVD!

Taken 3

Bryan Mills (Liam Neeson), the hard-as-nails old hand with “a very particular set of skills”, returns to your DVD cabinet with his third – and final – outing. But unlike the lacklustre and repetitive second effort, this unique spin proves there's life in the old dog yet.

It's an unconventional yet satisfying action-packed romp, binning the kidnapping storyline in favour of an on-the-run thriller which sees Neeson back to his butt-kicking best. ★★★★★

A QUICK WORD WITH...

TARON EGERTON ON KINGSMAN: THE SECRET SERVICE

HI, TARON. HOW SURPRISED WERE YOU TO BE CAST IN SUCH A MASSIVE MOVIE FOR YOUR CINEMATIC DEBUT?

It was an incredible shock and thrill to find out I was going to be a part of this incredible project. I'm a big fan of Matthew Vaughn's movies: they're very different, but always brilliant, and the talent that's involved represents some of my heroes and proper cinema icons. For a young actor from Aberystwyth, to be dropped in the middle of them all was mad!

TO WATCH! ARE THEY AS MUCH FUN TO SHOOT?

I think the action sequences are incredibly satisfying to watch back, and there are elements of shooting them that is great fun. Of course the repetitive nature of making those things can be tiring. It's exhausting and physically demanding. Quite often with those huge action type pieces, there's a lot of waiting around while they reset. But for example the underwater scene when they say action, and you're under there and you're doing your thing, it's great fun. You know it's a challenge, and I for one kind of relish that challenge.

DO YOU RECALL SHOOTING ANY SCENES THAT DIDN'T MAKE THE FINAL CUT OF THE MOVIE?

One of the scenes that we most enjoyed making that didn't quite make the film was one where Colin Firth's character Harry Hart teaches Eggsy how to eat like a gentleman; you know, the correct use of the cutlery and all of that! It's just a few men having a bit of fun really. One with a wealth of experience, one with real naivety, and it's lovely. They really resemble a father and son in it and I loved making that particular scene.

YOU MUST HAVE BEEN INTIMIDATED ON SET THEN?

I think it's incredibly daunting for any young actor to work with such greats, guys with such a massive body of work: Academy Award winners, multi-billion dollar grossing actors, and then me, sat there in-between them all, scratching my head, wondering quite how I was going to tackle the whole thing. But they are really truly lovely guys and very generous.

THE ACTION SCENES WERE MENTAL AND SO MUCH FUN

ULTRA CURVY CUTIES

If Melissa stripping off isn't exciting enough, let's marvel at her favourite curvaceous chicks!

There's a lot we've done with the delicious Melissa D during her ZOO career. We've sprayed her with batter (it was pancake day), had her run around a tennis court naked, and – after all that exertion – run her a nice, hot bath.

As one of our curviest covergirls, who better than the marvellous Melissa to be decked out in some seriously sexy lingerie and present our 103 Ultra Curvy Cuties?

HI, MELISSA! THANKS FOR SHOOTING FOR US TODAY. HOW DOES IT RATE ON YOUR ZOO WALL OF FAME?

back! I love getting in front of the camera for you guys – you always make me look awesome. I loved the X-rated black lingerie shoot I did with you, but I think this one is right up there with that.

SO, WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THE UNDERWEAR YOU'RE WEARING TODAY?

This is definitely a bit of me! I always buy loads of black sheer underwear – I love my sheer lingerie. Seeing so much but not all of it, I find that so sexy. The more skin you can see, the better, I think.

That's basically my underwear drawer. I also have a bit of white for when I have a sexy tan.

WHAT'S THE SEXIEST LINGERIE YOU'VE BOUGHT RECENTLY?

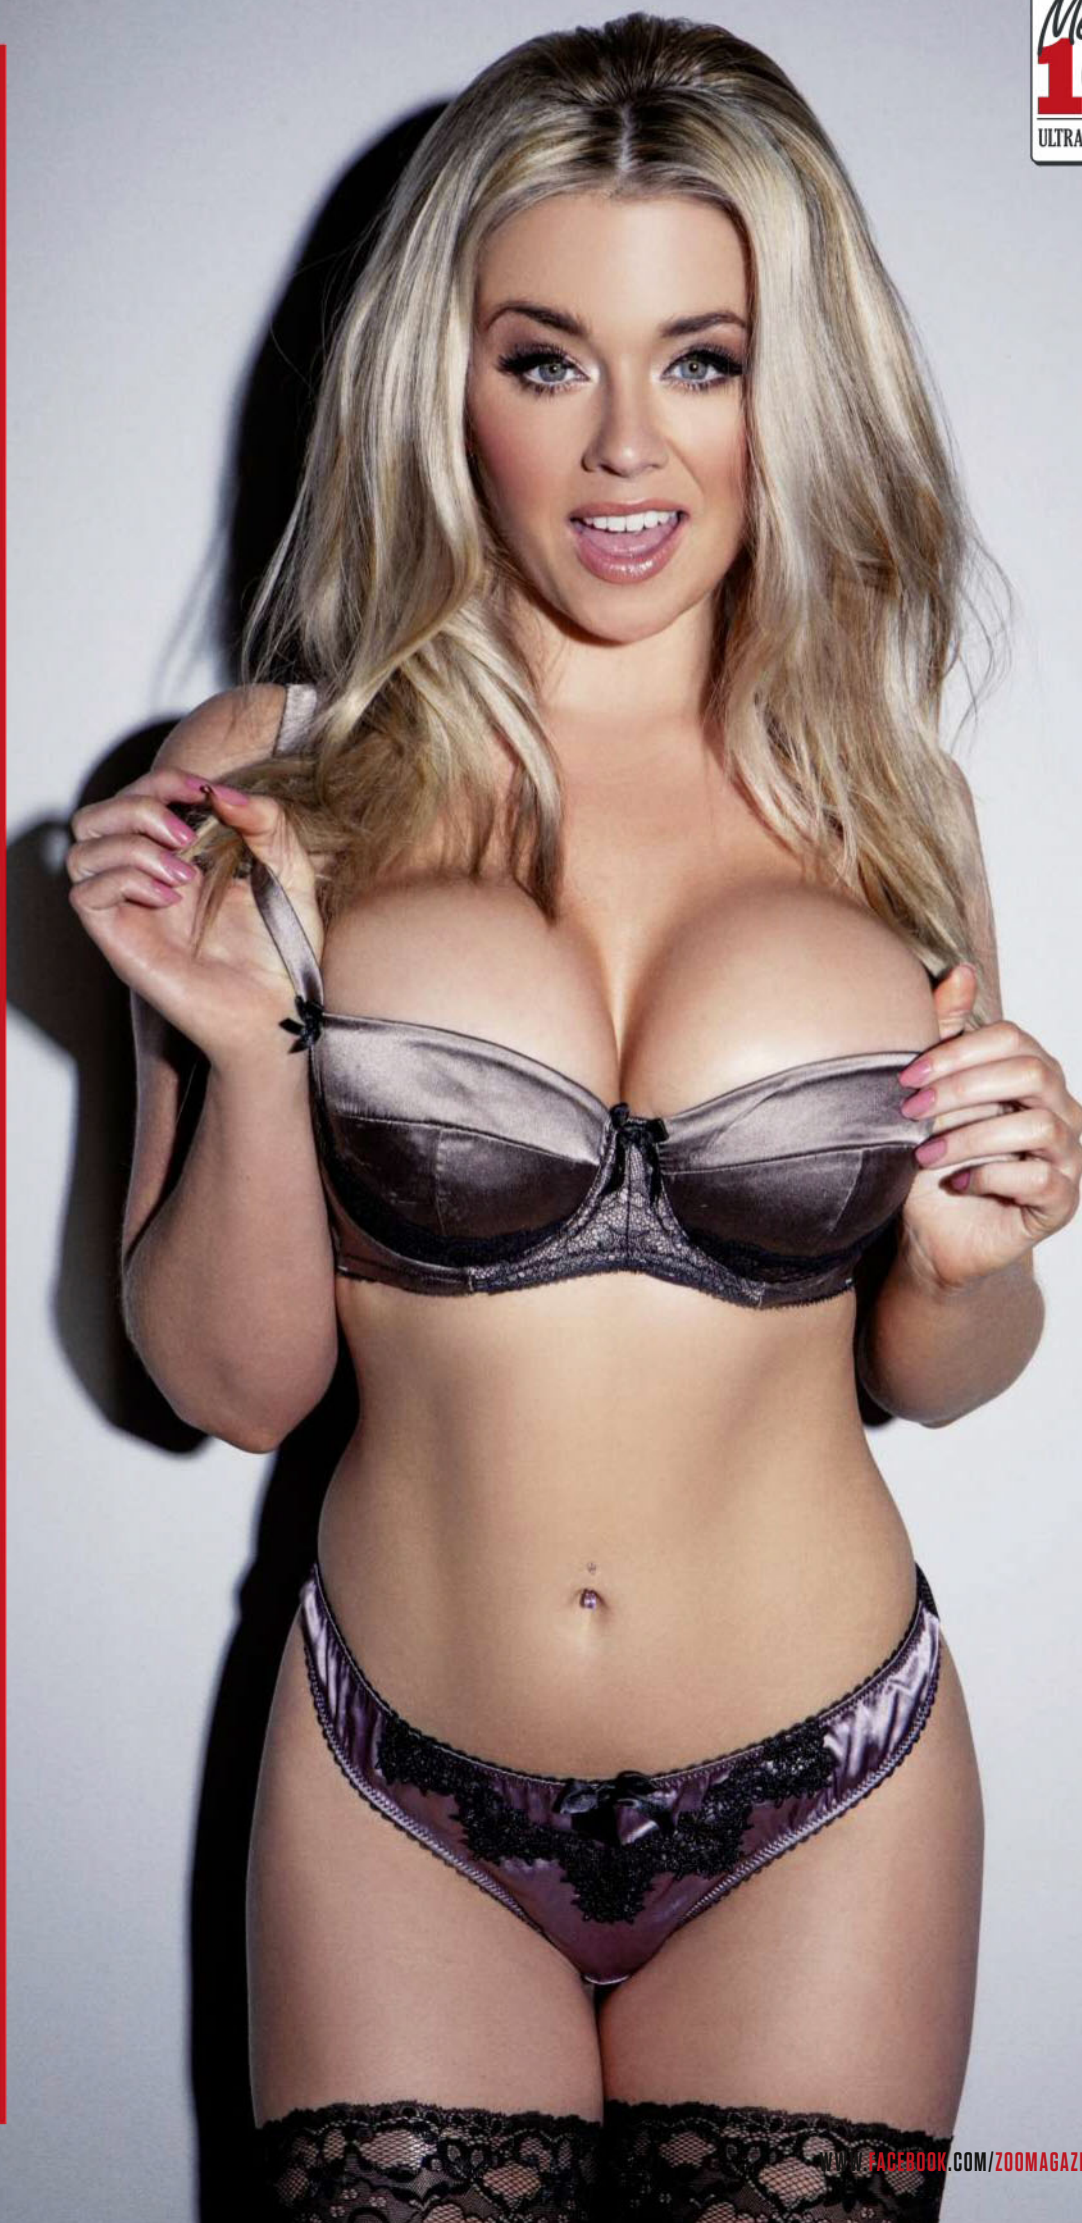

I have loads of new underwear I love. I have just bought some peephole underwear – it's a black and pink lace bra with a cutaway over my nipples so they're out. It's perfect. I am told I have great nipples so they deserve to come out!

WE AGREE. DO YOU GET COMPLIMENTED ON YOUR BODY QUITE A BIT?

I always get told nice things about my nipples. They're not too flat or too big, people just seem to appreciate them. People think boobs are just about size, but shape and nipples are also important!

HOW MESSY DOES MELISSA GET AT WEEKENDS?

I wake up fully clothed some nights. I get so drunk I just flop into bed without taking off my make-up. That's fairly tame, but I have woken up before in my heels. There will often be a bag of Jelly Babies in the bed, too! ➔

WHAT ELSE DO YOU
FIND IN YOUR BED
AFTER A NIGHT OUT?

Probably Elvis, my half-pug, half-chihuahua. He's so clever he doesn't need a lead – he even plays dead! I want a pig too, though I'm scared it'll grow massive and kick me out of my own flat!

WHEN ARE YOU MOST BADLY BEHAVED?

When I'm in Ibiza! I might be hooking up with Daisy Watts while I'm out there, though that increases my chances of not coming back at all! I like Ushuaia during the day. It's very sexy – everybody's naked.

SO, PUBS OR CLUBS?

I don't go for clubbing places all the time, I'd rather sit there and have a good catch up over a few Dune Bug cocktails or Pornstar Martinis! They're a favourite with ZOO girls!

WHAT WOULD YOUR MATES SAY ABOUT
YOU IF WE ASKED?

Some of my friends call me "Crazy Mel". I get a bit too openly honest. I don't mean bitchy, I just mean a bit rude. I went to a wine bar the other week where you get to taste different wines. Then we went for pizza and the trouble started – I got confused over how many slices we were allowed and →

“SHEER LINGERIE IS SO SEXY...”

I threw my plate across the table. Don't touch Debling's dinner!

OH DEAR. WE WON'T!

The worst thing was, days later the local alcoholic asked me, "Were you all right at the weekend? Did you not want your pizza?"

ALSO, WE SEE YOU'VE BEEN SHOOTING WITHOUT US! WHAT'S GOING ON WITH YOUR NEW CALENDAR?

It's going to be very nudey this year! I love the naked stuff. It's just going to be me, very tanned, very oiled with just a few pieces of jewellery. I love being naked – it's much more flattering. Bras and things can just get in the way. IS THERE A SPECIAL ROUTINE FOR LOOKING

AFTER THIS BODY OF YOURS?

I do a lot of weights and then squats and lunges – they look after my boobs and bum! I hit the gym five days a week. Also, lots of chicken, steak, ribs and sweet potato wedges. My life's 70 per cent barbecue!

I'M TOLD
I'VE GOT GREAT NIP-PLES. THEY DESERVE TO BE OUT

I LOVE THE NUDE STUFF ... BRAS GET IN THE WAY

MEATY! WHAT MAKES THE PERFECT BARBECUE THEN?

A great party means lots of booze, obviously. We once also hired sumo suits – what a laugh. But nothing says party like a garden full of models in their bikinis with a glass of bubbly.

ON TO THE CURVES. HOW DO YOU BEST FLAUNT YOURS?

Not many clothes, skimpy underwear and lots of attitude.

AND WHAT MAKES THE ULTIMATE CURVY CUTIE?

I love being hour-glass shaped – I think it's the best shape there is. You've got a bit of everything going on – bum, boobs, you name it! Stacey Poole is my all-time favourite. She has a fab body to go alongside those huge boobs!

FOOTBALL IN

Read the world's most dangerous match reports...

Wherever your team is heading on a pre-season tour, it can't possibly be as dangerous as one Brit's footballing adventures.

Whether it's post-match riots, political uprisings or all-out war, football waits for no man and James Montague, 35, is usually pitchside as the game continues regardless. His pen – and a nose for danger – have taken him into the hotspots of Yemen, Palestine, Haiti and Egypt, a journey charted in When Friday Comes: Football In The War Zone, while the world's worst football team's attempt to avoid regular drubbings is the focus of Thirty-One Nil.

Telling his story, Essex-born James says, "I'm a 6ft 2in white man, so I don't blend in too well in many places. It's a wonder I don't get into more trouble."

Soccer vs politics

"In this country, politicians pretend to like football, but in volatile countries, politicians are closely related to clubs.

"Hezbollah – the terrorist group – has its own football team with branding on the kit. In Egypt, regardless of whether you're a hooligan or not, police hate you. You get swipes of the baton, stamped over and tear-gassed. In February 2012, before I went there, 72 people were killed after a match in Port Said, when Al Masry fans attacked Al Ahly fans with knives and rocks. Some supporters were even thrown down the back of the stadium to their deaths. This was despite Al Masry winning the game 3-1. Rumours abound the government was behind the attacks as Al Ahly have an anti-establishment hardcore.

"I visited Port Said just as the accused from an earlier massacre were sentenced to death. They rioted and the President ordered a shutdown of the whole city. I thought if I get there, I could beat the curfew. But all I saw was an abandoned burning barricade. Eventually I found police firing at fans and protesters. Thirty people were killed."

I predict a riot

"I was tear-gassed in Tahrir Square, Egypt. They had riot police there every day and ran out of tear gas they used so much. I was watching from the Nile and a can landed next to me with white smoke coming out. Stupidly I tried to take a picture – then it just hit me. It's like having acid p'ss sprayed in your eyes and mouth, and it needed to leave sharpish. Palestine were playing Afghanistan, so I had this incredible few weeks where I was with the team in Gaza and the West Bank. Gaza is one of the most awful places I've ever been. There's been so much violence and war it is etched on the people. It's malevolent. The kids there are all wild, suffering from traumas from the Israeli shelling. They've seen people blown up in front of them.

"Players get arrested simply moving in and out of Palestine – they can only train together in a different country. Often half

Yemen men against 11

"Yemen is one of the most highly armed countries on Earth. The national team was banned from a tournament because the players all took khat – a chewable root that makes you high. I ended up meeting the guy who was trying to rid the squad of khat. We talked to all the players, who said they'd never do it again, and the team doctor who said it ruined careers.

FA was an ex-guerilla fighter who'd lost an eye in the civil war, and he basically kept his one good eye on the players to stop them escaping! The previous tournament the coach was the only person to come back as everyone else claimed asylum."

"When I was tear-gassed again – in Brazil, just before the last World Cup – I had vinegar and a decorator's mask to protect me. The rioters had completely taken over the city and were destroying it, but people were happy to pose for photos, hammers in hand!"

Palestine vs Afghanistan

"I also hung out with the Eritrean team. Eritrea is one of the worst countries to live in – they sentence people to death there by burying them in the desert. Normally, people aren't allowed to leave, with the international team being one of the few exceptions.

He said that's what sport is about – that crowd saw a bit of themselves in the minnow, that we're all against the odds in some way."

"I'M THE OLD MAN OF ENGLAND!"

England's No1 stopper talks seniority, David de Gea's great season and Raheem Sterling transfer speculation

HI, JOE. IF ENGLAND WIN AGAINST SLOVENIA, SHOULD THE FANS BOOK TICKETS FOR FRANCE 2016?

Three more points will put us in a really good position to qualify, but it was a tough game when we played them at Wembley and this will be a big test away from home. It will be an eye opener for some of the players and that's only going to help us.

ENGLAND'S DEFENCE HAS CHOPPED AND CHANGED BUT THE ONE CONSTANT IS GARY CAHILL. IS HE ENGLAND'S NEW JOHN TERRY?

John Terry is always going to be John Terry and Gary is Gary. He's won a number of trophies at Chelsea and he's definitely one of our main players in the first team. I think he's enjoying it and he's improving all the time.

SO, ARE YOU TAKING THE CREDIT FOR ONLY LETTING IN ONE GOAL IN QUALIFYING SO FAR? OR DOES THAT GO TO GARY?

We've played really well all around the pitch. It's a new team since the World Cup; the squad is a lot younger, but they've all settled in well. Since the first game against Switzerland we've handled ourselves really well and we're determined to qualify as soon as we can.

DO YOU FEEL LIKE THE OLD BOY NOW WITH ALL THESE YOUNGSTERS IN THE LINE-UP?

It's weird, because I'm still young but in the England team I'm one of the old men as I've been around a long time. But I enjoy my role and try to help the lads who are new to the England environment as much as I can.

STERLING: "HE'LL MAKE RIGHT CHOICE"

SUNDAY

EURO QUALIFIER
Slovenia vs England
ITV, 4.30pm

"This will be a big test away from home"

TALKING ABOUT YOUNGSTERS, RAHEEM STERLING'S BEEN IN THE NEWS QUITE A BIT. HAVE YOU HAD A WORD IN HIS EAR ABOUT JOINING MANCHESTER CITY?

Ha ha – I don't think that will make any difference. He's got his own things going on at the moment and his own decisions to make. I'm sure he'll make the right one either way.

OK THEN, HOW MUCH WOULD YOU LIKE TO SEE THE BACK OF YOUR NEMESIS, DAVID DE GEA, THIS SUMMER?

David's had a great season, and I've enjoyed seeing what he's been doing at Manchester United. I'll be watching him next year whether he's still there or not.

ARE YOU PREPARING YOURSELF FOR ANOTHER SUMMER OF SEEING CITY LINKED WITH EVERY SUPERSTAR WITH A STEP-OVER?

That's pretty standard now in modern football. It's not just us: Chelsea and United will be linked with everyone as well. I've learned to wait until somebody has signed on the dotted line before I make a judgement.

DO YOU STILL GET EXCITED BY RUMOURS?

I'm pretty happy with the guys we've got, but I know how this club works. If we're signing someone it will be for the reason of improving the team, so I'll be looking forward to it as much as most City fans are looking forward to seeing who we recruit this summer.

AFTER A DAMP SQUIB OF A CHAMPIONSHIP DEFENCE, HOW DID THE END OF SEASON REVIEW GO DOWN IN THE CITY DRESSING ROOM?

To win no trophies was a real disappointment for us, but it's been an up-and-down season and we came on strong at the end. Chelsea were more consistent than us, but we still managed to pile the pressure on for most of the season and we'll be ready to go again next year.

"I'm bigger than Floyd!"

WBC heavyweight champion Deontay Wilder tells ZOO he's the biggest thing in boxing ahead of his title homecoming

(...not just in size!)

HI, DEONTAY. HOW'S LIFE AS HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION OF THE WORLD?

There's nothing like being heavyweight champion of the world. I put my city on the map. Now when I go all over the country, I don't have to say "Sweet Home Alabama", because they know where the champion is from.

IS THIS WHY YOUR HOMECOMING AGAINST ERIC MOLINA THIS WEEKEND IS EVEN SWEETER?

We're going to make history by having the first title fight of any division in the state of Alabama and that's an honour to me. I respect Eric for signing the contract because he's coming to an arena filled mainly with hometown people and facing the most dangerous guy in the division today. BUT YOU'RE PLANNING TO SHOW HIM YOU'RE APPRECIATION BY KNOCKING HIM OUT WE TAKE IT?

Ha ha. There's nothing like what I do and that's whoop a*s and I can't wait to get in there on Saturday night and do what I do. This is the heavyweight division, it's all based on power. When people get dressed up and come out to the fight they come to see a knock-out.

BEING AN AMERICAN HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION, CAN YOU BE BIGGER FOR THE SPORT THAN FLOYD MAYWEATHER JR?

Most definitely! And I say that with the highest confidence. The heavyweight division is the cream of the crop and I've brought the fans back to the division. The excitement and the personality that I have is all me. Nothing is scripted. I'm looking to be the biggest thing in boxing, period.

DO YOU HAVE TO BEAT WLADIMIR KLITSCHKO FIRST?

The last time I checked I have the most prestigious and beautiful belt in all of boxing, something that's been around for a very long time; that's the WBC crown. It's something that everybody wants. I don't have to chase Wladimir Klitschko but that fight is just a matter of "when" not "if".

Hometown hero

"Fury can beat Wladimir Klitschko"

DO YOU GIVE YOUR OLD FOE TYSON FURY MUCH OF A CHANCE AGAINST HIM?

I think Tyson Fury has a great chance of defeating Klitschko and becoming the new world champion. It all depends on him and how seriously he prepares. Klitschko didn't look invincible in his last fight against Bryant Jennings and we'll see how he can adjust to a bigger fighter.

DID YOU SILENCE A LOT OF CRITICS BY GOING 12 ROUNDS WHEN YOU WON THE TITLE AGAINST BERMANE STIVERNE?

That just proved I'm an even more dangerous fighter than people imagined. Not only am I a puncher but I can also box, take a punch and go the distance. Twelve rounds is nothing to me. After that I was back in the gym doing 20 rounds.

WE'VE GOT OUR OWN KNOCK-OUT KING IN ANTHONY JOSHUA. WOULD IT BE FAIR TO SAY HE'S GOT AS MUCH DYNAMITE IN HIS GLOVES AS YOU?

That remains to be seen. Kevin Johnson looked like he went in there just to get a pay cheque and didn't throw any punches. If Joshua keeps going the way he's going he'll be great, but I'm not looking over my shoulder at him just yet.

Who next for Joshua?

Having bowled over Kevin Johnson, ZOO lines up the next brute that can really test Anthony Joshua

13 fights
W13 (13 KOs)

DAVID PRICE
21 FIGHTS W19 (16 KO) L2

The former great British hope in this division until two defeats to veteran Tony Thompson. But Price is on the comeback trail, and at 6ft 8in tall presents the kind of lofty challenge that AJ has yet to face.

DILLIAN WHYTE
14 FIGHTS W14 (11 KO)

Having lost to Whyte before in a match fought at amateur level, AJ would love to settle the score in the professional ranks. But does Whyte have his card à la George Groves and James DeGale?

DERECK CHISORA
25 FIGHTS W20 (13 KO) L5

Having gone the distance with Vitali Klitschko, only been knocked out by David Haye and retired by Tyson Fury, Chisora would be a great sounding board - or more aptly punching bag - for how good Joshua really is.

TONY THOMPSON
45 FIGHTS W40 (27 KO) L5

A vastly experienced, world-level operator who has already rained on one British heavyweight parade. Overcoming The Tiger would be a quick-fire route into the coveted Top Ten in the division.

FROM F1 TO LE MANS 24!

Ex-Formula One racer Max Chilton tells ZOO what it takes to go from Monaco to the most prestigious endurance race on the planet

Get into Mo Farrah shape!

"Distance-wise, Le Mans 24 is an entire Formula One season in one race so you have to be super fit. F1 drivers are among the fittest athletes on the planet because of what they have to cope with in terms of G-force, heat and concentration levels. Endurance racing might be less intense but it's over a longer period of time so we have to be in Mo Farrah shape as we tackle fatigue more."

Drive the right car!

"There are three drivers in the team and we'll take it in two-hour stints to drive. Somebody might get a double stint or even a triple stint if it's raining or the tyre life is going pretty well. Once you get out of the car we have everything on hand to keep us going, from physiotherapists to masseurs and chefs. But like in any motorsport, all that doesn't matter if you're not in the right car."

“Getting caught out on the track means soiling yourself”

Stay off the curbs!

“In F1 you’re a sprint driver. You’ve got two hours to get up the field so you have to be super-efficient, perfect every corner and be pretty aggressive in overtaking. At Le Mans you don’t have to take the same risks when overtaking, as it will work itself out after 24 hours. Instead it’s about looking after the car and getting it home. So don’t smack the curbs, because if you do it seven to eight times a lap for 24 hours, something’s going to give way.”

Save your fuel!

“It’s very hard to plan a strategy because everything can change very quickly. The most important factor to keep in mind is fuel efficiency. You get 12 laps on a tank of fuel and you can make that stretch with a bit of economical driving. Not going flat out through the corners could save you an extra lap. Do that on each stint and you might have one less pit stop, which could win you the race.”

Always empty your load!

“You have to sneak in some shut-eye wherever you can. We have a cabin that we can rest our heads in, but with all the noise going on outside, whether you get any sleep is a lottery. I’ve heard about many drivers who have gone through the whole 24 hours without sleeping. If you’re on a long shift then you have to be sure to empty your load before getting in the car, as getting caught out on the track would just mean soiling yourself.”

Beat the traffic!

“At Le Mans you don’t really want a competitor close to you because you’ll both lose time by battling or breaking early. With so many different categories – from GT cars to LMP1 and LMP2 – on the track doing different speeds it can get very busy. You could end up having to overtake 20 cars each lap so it’s important to come through the traffic efficiently.”
